STATE OF WISCONSIN.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

BY THE GOVERNOR.

In accordance with the appropriate custom of setting apart a day for the giving of thanks for the prosperity of the year, and in conformity with the proclamation of the President of the United States, I, Jeremiah M. Rusk, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby designate Thursday, the 27th day of November, instant, as a day of Thanksgiving for the people of the State of Wisconsin, and I commend their grateful and reverent observance thereof, in public and in private, in ways befitting a people thankful for the many blessings of a kind Providence. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed. Done at the city of (Great Seal) Madison, this 12th day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four.

By the Governor: J. M. RUSK, ERNST G. THOMAS, Secretary of State.

The question now is, can Conkling's republicanism be bought for a plate of democratic taffy?

If Cleveland's new broom doesn't sweep pretty clean, look out for war in the democratic party.

The body of the democratic party is in the south, and the tail in the north. Will the body wag the tail?

Intellectually, Blaine is one of the greatest Americans of his time. In heart and conscience he has no superior.

A party that is raised to power by a blundering alibi, has but four years to reign, and these years will be full of trouble.

Mr. Hendricks' burgher is the supple in the treasury. Let not that worry him. There won't be much left in a year after the democrats get control of the government.

A Vermont woman, who is 80 years old has been asked for a divorce. A little patience would have saved her that trouble and humiliation, as a higher court could not long delay in granting the separation.

According to the latest reports from Madison, Blaine's plurality in Wisconsin will be 14,500, and Governor Rusk's about 19,000. The prohibition vote will be about 8,000, some 5,000 less than it was three years ago.

This is the way the Boston Herald, a Cleveland paper, breaks the news to the independents: "It must be understood that the administration which is to come in by the aid of the independent votes is a democratic administration."

The latest election figures show that Cleveland's plurality over Blaine in the popular vote of all the states is 37,023; Mississippi, a republican state, gives Cleveland 35,773, and Texas gives him 98,500; Missouri, 32,000; Arkansas, 28,000; Georgia, 45,000; Kentucky, 45,000; Maryland, 16,000; South Carolina, 43,000. Blaine's largest plurality is in Pennsylvania—81,000. His plurality in the northern states is nearly 400,000.

Among the persons which are going the rounds of the press, is the following: "The lines of which there is considerable pathos, and a valuable lesson to young men: 'It is understood that Fred Grant, eldest son of Ex-President Grant, called at the White House yesterday and implored President Arthur to give him an appointment of some kind, no matter how small the compensation might be. It is known that young Grant was anxious to get back in the army, but it seems hardly possible that he is so hard up. He has had no employment since the firm of Grant & Ward exploded. He was at one time a lieutenant colonel in the army.'"

Following the Gazette in asking where was the influence of the "great independent" press of New York, comes the Richmond (Virginia) Dispatch, a democratic paper, which asks the unkind question: "With the New York Herald, The Times, The Nation, The Evening Post, and Harper's Weekly, all supposed to be papers of no little influence, supporting him, Cleveland received in New York city and Brooklyn, combined together, almost identically the same name majority [less the St. John vote] which Hancock received in the same cities four years ago. Where were all the independents [mugwumps]? Where on election day was the influence of the papers we have named? Echo answers where?"

ST. JOHN IN THE CAMPAIGN.

A paper of very large influence in the state of New York felt just in making the following editorial comment on St. John's candidacy:

"The virtuous John B. St. John is reported to have received, daily $30,000 for his services to the democracy during the recent campaign. Just now we don't remember how much President Arthur obtained for his treachery. James Isaacson received thirty pounds of silver, we are told, for betraying the Savior, and each piece was accompanied with every $1,000 paid to have been paid to the reformer of these modern days."

The Gazette wishes to be entirely left toward that misguided and unfortunate bundle of human rotism—John B. St. John—and say that there is probably no truth in the statement we reproduce from the Troy Times. But there is one thing which can not be denied even by the men who supported Mr. St. John, and that is, from the beginning of the campaign to its close, he demeaned himself in such a way regarding the issues in the canvass, and the candidates, as might lead any reasonable and unprejudiced observer to infer that he was a paid servant of the democratic national committee. His conduct was extraordinary. He could slander the republican party and its candidates without compunction of conscience, and never hint at the glorious triumphs of either; and on the other hand he could find nothing but praise for the democratic party and its candidates from whose records no American draw any pride.

But looking again at the business side of the St. John canvass, it is said with considerable positiveness, that the republican national committee turned a deaf ear to the proposition that $10,000 would put St. John out of the way, and his votes turned over to Blaine. Whether there is any truth in the statement can not be decided, although the Philadelphia News makes it with the assurance that it is founded on good authority. If it is not true, the statement should not have been made, but if it is true, that fact should be known.

The statement of the Philadelphia News and that of the Troy Times can not be accepted as each being true, because St. John wasn't in a condition to get out of the way for the small sum of $10,000 from the republicans, whom the democrats had paid $50,000 to keep in the race and slander the republican party. It is not at all probable that anyone shall ever know whether the democratic committee hired him or not; but this will know with absolute certainty, that he did try to injure the republican party, and did try to save the democratic party from defeat, and therefore he is entitled to handsome pay from the democratic national committee whether he got anything or not.

WILL CLEVELAND MAKE A CLEAN SWEEP?

The editor of the Gazette has been frequently asked since the election if Mr. Cleveland will be able to carry out the threat of Mr. Hendricks and make a clean sweep of the 120,000 republican officeholders after the fourth of next March. In discussing the civil service law the other day, the Gazette took occasion to say that nearly 97,000 persons employed in the civil service of the government were subject to removal by the president, the postmaster general, or the heads of the departments at Washington; but while this is true, our democratic friends, many of whom we confess are very hungry and very thirsty, must not depend too much on the ability of Mr. Cleveland to make a clean sweep. Of course, there is a demand coming from his party "to turn all the rascals out," and Hendricks promised his Indiana and Ohio friends that should be done, but the democrats must remember that even the president of the United States, with all the vestiges of his power, can be told to go just far and no farther. The old Jacksonian method of using the official gullotine where many thousands were slain in one month, can not be adopted by Mr. Cleveland. He may not have the desire to adopt the Jackson and the Hendricks spoil system, and if he does the civil service law, which, however, is not much good, and the power of the senate, will prevent him from making the clean sweep demanded.

Before going any further, the reader must remember that the civil service law which is now in operation, applies only to appointments to subordinate positions under the government in the great department at Washington and to the postoffice and custom houses where the whole number of clerks and employees are as many as fifty. This leaves a great many clerkships to be filled by favor and not through competitive examinations. These positions are filled nominally by the cabinet officer at the head of the department in which the clerk serves, but practically they are made by the principal executive officer in charge, who is usually appointed for a definite term by the president and confirmed by the senate.

The great want of office-seekers is a postoffice, and here will be the bone of contention. But postmasters, custom-house, internal revenue and other officials appointed by and with the advice and consent of the senate, are protected by the tenure of office act, passed when Andy Johnson threatened to revolutionize the system of office-holding. But if every such person shall be entitled to hold his office during the term by which he was appointed, unless sooner removed by and with the advice or consent of the senate, and during the recess of the senate the president is authorized to suspend any such civil officers, except judges until the end of the next session of the senate and fill the office temporarily. If the senate refuses after it meets to confirm anyone to that office whom the president may appoint it remains in abeyance until the end of the session of the senate, when the commission of the suspended officer revives, but as he may be again suspended immediately, there is little advantage to him in this if the president is determined upon disposing with his services.

Now comes the question, will the republican senate confirm all the nominations made by Mr. Cleveland? It is pretty safe to predict that there will be no serious trouble between a republican senate and a democratic president. There are many nominations which the senate will confirm without delay, but it may possibly interfere with a too summary and arbitrary removal of some of the higher officials whose terms have not expired. The army of officials who must go because they are not protected either by the civil service law or the senate, are the postmasters of those classes who can be removed, at the pleasure of the first assistant postmaster general. The president has nothing to do with them. The senate does not confirm the nominations. They are put in office and kicked out at the caprice of the heads of the postoffice department. Postmasters of this class number about 45,000, so it will be seen that while the civil service law and the senate may save the official heads of some thousands of others must go which will

ANOTHER VIEW.

BLAINE'S SPEECH CRITICISED BY A COLORED MAN.

What He Thinks the Political Outlook Is—Colored Voters All Stagnant—Arthur and Lincoln in 1858.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The Times Washington City special gives the following as the remarks in criticism of Mr. Blaine's speech of Tuesday night, made by Mr. Henry C. C. Atwood, who is a colored Louisiana Republican, and a Kellogg worker. He is United States consul at San Domingo, and during the late campaign was on the stump for the Republican party, though he does not pretend to have been very much of a Blaine man. Mr. Atwood said: "The colored people in the south have been deserted by the Republican party since 1870, and they are not depressed by Blaine's defeat. They think, on the contrary, that the election of Cleveland is going to prove a benefit to them. You see they are two factions in the Democratic party in the south—the ring Democrats, or fourbans, and the silk-stockings, who are the business men and best citizens of the south. These will be thrown apart by Cleveland's election. They will form two parties, and they will be the only parties in the south."

The colored people will divide, some following the Bourbons and some the silk-stockings. There will not be any race line. There will be two white parties, and a colored following, which will greatly improve the condition of the colored people. The ring men expect to be recognized by Cleveland, but judging from Mr. Cleveland's action as governor of New York I should say they would be disappointed. The silk-stockings will come to the front, and the best element in the south will reign. Mr. Blaine's speech at Tuesday night's soiree is all bosh. Why didn't he think of all that when he voted against the civil bill? If he had, probably he would not have been defeated. No, the statement that the colored people in the south were not allowed to vote is not true. There is some intimidation in the country districts in the south, but very little in the cities. Certainly Mr. Blaine has no cause to complain. In the Third Louisiana district he got 5,000 majority, while Kellogg was defeated. The colored people vote as they please. Look at St. Louis, for instance. There he was defeated by Republican votes. We form fusions in the south and make trades. The colored people are not generally coaxed. In some of the country districts, where the white people are as ignorant as colored—you have no idea how ignorant they are in some places—there are conflicts, but it grows out of the ignorance on both sides. No, sir, the south was made solid by the Democrats this time. Blaine lost every southern state because the colored people are stalwart and supporters of Cleveland, Grant and Arthur. We are nearly all Couglins now, and the slaughter of Polk's army as much in the south as it did in New York. The colored people in the south are going to try and have Arthur and Lincoln nominated in 1888. They sum of the southern states will go Republican. If Cleveland as president acts as he did in the case of the colored people in 1880, the governor will have as support in 1888 of most of the northern states, but the southern Democrats will be against him."

The National Cattle Convention.

St. Louis, Nov. 20.—On the third day of the cattle convention there were 1,123 delegates present when the convention was called to order. The committee on permanent organization presented its report as follows: For president, John L. Edwards, of Colorado, with one vice president from each state; secretary, Amos A. Atwater, of St. Louis. Governor Routt was escorted to the chair, and made a short speech thanking the convention for the honor paid to Colorado by his election.

A resolution that a committee of five be appointed to draft a constitution for a permanent national association was carried. Judge Carroll, of Texas, presented a resolution that the convention memorialize the congress in behalf of the national cattle trail and appoint a committee to present the memorial to congress. The trail is to begin at some point on Red River and extend in a northerly direction to the mouth of the north line of the United States. The convention took a recess until 3 p. m. The convention met at 3 o'clock pursuant to adjournment. The session was a short one, as the committee of resolutions was not ready to report. A number of subjects occupied the attention of the meeting, particularly the trail and the lossing of public lands, until adjournment for the day.

Trying to Beat Republicanism.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 20.—Thomas Hutchinson and John Franklin, two judges of the Dallas county court, who were recently arrested by the United States deputy marshals, were given a hearing in the United States circuit court Wednesday morning, and the case was continued till March. The trouble came over mandamus proceedings in the United States court to compel the county clerk to make a levy of $15,000 to pay off certain bonds which the county repudiated. The judges evaded service for eleven years, and claim that as yet no service has been had on them. The service is supposed to have been made on the county clerk, and he failed to notify the court of the fact. The costs charged by the government for the service amounts to $16,450.

The New York Canvassing Board.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The board of state canvassers met at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the office of the secretary of state, for the purpose of ascertaining the result of the late election in the state. There were present all of the members of the board. On motion of Attorney General O'Brien, Secretary of State Carr was chosen as chairman, Deputy Secretary of State Wood acting as secretary of the board. The board, without transacting any business, adjourned for the day.

AN EDITOR PERFORMED.

Michael De Young, of The "Trisco Chronicle," Made a Target of.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 20.—Michael H. De Young, proprietor of The San Francisco Chronicle, was shot at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening by Adolph Spreckels, son of Claus Spreckels, the Hawaiian sugar king. The shooting took place in the business office of The Chronicle. Spreckels fired twice. The first shot took effect in the left arm, a little above the elbow, and the second in the left shoulder. The shooting was the outcome of an article published in The Chronicle last Sunday morning respecting the affairs of the Hawaiian Commercial Sugar company. Spreckels was arrested. This affair brings to mind the killing of the wounded man's brother, Charles, by a son of Rev. I. S. Kallioch, April 13, 1883, which was the result of a very similar quarrel, the son shooting to avenge an insult to his father. In the former case, however, there had been verbal attacks by both sides. Rev. Kallioch, who was selected mayor of San Francisco by Denis Kearney's party, having set about scandalous stories regarding the mother of the De Youngs, in revenge for their attacks upon him through their paper, and they replying with equally scandalous attacks upon Kallioch himself. Both affairs took place in The Chronicle counting-room.

FORTY-EIGHT HOURS A WIFE.

A Will That Troubles the Groom's Relatives.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—The will of Dr. William Henry Riddick, who married Mrs. Mary Dixon last Thursday and died Saturday, is to be contested by his relatives. The contest giving everything to the woman who became his bride and widow within forty-eight hours was executed the day after his marriage and signed twelve hours before his death. Dr. Riddick was a wealthy railroad physician who lived luxuriously in his bachelor life in an old family residence. He was 60 years old, and his marriage last Thursday was unexpected. His income was derived from Pennsylvania and other railroad stock and bonds worth more than $250,000, and paying about $12,000 per year interest. He was described as being a man of very peculiar and eccentric habits. During his last year he imagined that a number of persons had conspired to take his life, and moved around very cautiously. It is also said he was very particular about his appearance, and would change his shoes and stockings at least a dozen times a day.

The Crouch Murder Trial.

JACKSON, Mich., Nov. 20.—In the Crouch case Wednesday the evidence showed that Holcomb told a witness that he never bought or owned a revolver of 28 caliber, and testimony was adduced showing that Holcomb did buy a revolver—the one he said he went north to give his brother in Ogemaw county. Nettle Snyder and Julia Rose were the most important witnesses. Miss Snyder was raised by Holcomb, and was apparently an unwilling witness for the prosecution. She contradicted herself. She said once that Holcomb changed clothes and shaved before going to the Crouch house, and upon cross-examination that he did not. She swore at the preliminary examination that Holcomb did not change. During a discussion between attorneys over a question asked by the prosecution it was learned that Miss Snyder had been in conversation with a detective for the defense during the noon hour. The jury took note of the fact, and appeared deeply impressed. Julia Rose was asked over and over by attorneys for defense, and her love affair considerably aired. Objection was made by the defense to Miss Rose stating that Holcomb had been arrested for the murder. The prosecution will attempt to show that the arrest was made in bad faith.

Admiral Porter on the Navy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Admiral Porter in his annual report says that a comparison of expenditures in foreign navies with our own will go far to put a stop to the cry that wasteful extravagance has been shown in the administration of its financial affairs, and will show the necessity of our doing something toward building a navy if we want to keep pace with the spirit of the age and hold ourselves ready to maintain the respect of foreign nations. Admiral Porter submits what he thinks the government ought to do in the next two years: Complete the unfinished monitors and arm them with heavy rifled guns, making them run as fast as possible; permit appropriate money for all vessels that were proposed to congress last winter; build as a commencement four of the heaviest monitors of great endurance and speed, each to carry four six-inch rifles in turret; build twenty torpedo boats not less than 100 tons each with a speed of twenty knots; one cruising frigate of not less than 4,000 tons; have all our ships over 1,250 tons supplied with torpedo boats, fitted with noiseless condensing engines, so they cannot be heard when approaching the enemy.

Look Out for Counterfeit Notes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The annual report of Chief Brooks of the secret service division of the treasury department, shows that during the past year 423 arrests were made by secret service agents. The amount of counterfeit money captured or surrendered during the year was $383,000, a large proportion of which was in "black" notes. A marked decrease is noted in the circulation of notes in imitation of United States treasury notes and metal tokens in imitation of United States coin for advertising purposes. Manufacturers, becoming better acquainted with the requirements of the law, have substituted other designs for the imitation of gold and silver coins for use as bangles. The report says the events of the past year give evidence of a revival of the manufacture of counterfeit paper money which was practically suspended during the years 1882 and 1883. Chief Brooks is of opinion that there is in the hands of counterfeiters nearly $500,000 of new spurious notes of the denominations of $10 and $20 which have been produced since Jan. 1, 1884.

Set Aside by the Judge.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The assignment of Sienbach, Schwab & Co., wholesale clothing merchants (late of 115 Grand street, who failed Sept. 21, 1883—the first of the series of dry clothing failures—with liabilities of $1,424,000, and assets of $285,000, and preference of $110,000, has been set aside and declared void by Judge O'Gorman of the superior court. The judge in his decision says there is much in the conduct of the firm from its beginning in January, 1883, to its ending by failure to give rise to grave suspicion as to the honesty of its motives and motives. Its proposed capital was in great part unreal and fictitious.

What German Socialists Will Do.

BRIEFERS.

—Patti Ross.
—At the opera house.
—This evening—be sure you get a good seat.

—Patti Ross, in "Mizpah," at the opera house this evening.

—The Beloit democrats held their grand political ball last evening.

—The Patti Ross company has arrived in the city and will amuse the theatre goers at the opera house this evening.

—Purchase a ticket to the benefit entertainment to be given at the Congregational church on Thanksgiving evening.

—Janesville Chapter No. 5, Royal Arch Masons, occupy Masonic hall this evening. Grand Lecturer M. L. Young will be present.

—The masons are making rapid progress with the foundation of the new Jeffries block at the west end of Milwaukee street bridge.

—The police force made six arrests last evening—four tramps, one drunk and a young man named Matthews, on charge of stealing a plug of tobacco.

—The social dancing party of the Bow or City Rifles takes place at their armory this evening. Anderson's orchestra furnishes the music. Tickets 50 cents.

—There was a pleasant social dancing party at the Central house last evening, and a number of young people were in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Watts know how to run a hotel.

—Our people in want of good winter clothing will not forget the great auction sales at Sonneborn's Star clothing house, which commences on Monday next. The entire stock will be closed out at auction.

—The City Times will hardly make political capital out of the recent action of the county board of supervisors in selecting a purchasing agent. Might as well drop the hot iron, Mr. Times.

—Rev. P. F. Raymond, D. D., president of Lawrence university, Appleton, will preach in this city next Sabbath, occupying the pulpit of Court street M. E. church in the morning and the First M. E. church in the evening.

—The new tobacco warehouse being built by Mr. C. T. Wilcox at the east end of Court street bridge, is looming up in grand style, and will soon be completed. It will be the largest tobacco warehouse in the city, and will be occupied by an eastern firm.

—The convention of Unitarian and Independent churches now in session in All Souls church this city, will conclude the session this evening, the closing sermon to be preached at eight o'clock by Rev. Dr. H. Kerr, of Rockford. The public is cordially invited to attend.

—We understand that a large number of horses belonging to the Burr Robbins' New Consolidated Railroad show, which have been pasturing at Mr. Adam Shoemaker's, in the town of Janesville, broke down the fences last night, and that most of the horses are now roaming round the city and adjacent towns.

—Mr. Wm. Macdonald is making quite an improvement in Stearns & Baker's drug store, corner of West Milwaukee and Franklin streets, by putting in large plate-glass windows in the front, and the proprietors of the drug store are made the happier by the public-spirited proprietor of the building.

—The members of the Rescue Hook & Ladder company are completing the details for their annual party, which will take place in the Rifles' armory on Wednesday evening of next week. Arrangements are being made for a pleasant time, which is always the result of the parties given by this company.

—Miss Susan K. Gampeller, domestic at the farm of Mr. H. S. Woodruff, died yesterday afternoon, of lung fever, aged eighteen years. The remains were taken to Monroe, her home, this afternoon where the funeral will take place and the remains buried. Two brothers and a sister were with the deceased in her last moments, and will accompany her remains to their final resting place.

—The social entertainment given by the members of the Good Templar order in their hall, Court Street M. E. church block, last evening, was a pleasant reunion of the friends of that order. Music, recitations and reading comprised the portion of the social entertainment, and concluded with an oyster supper. All were well pleased with the success of the gathering.

—Messrs. Gately & King have a splendid assortment of maple wood, sawed or unsawed, which they are selling at the lowest price for that class of wood. In point of excellence, the wood is not surpassed in the city. They also have other kinds of wood for sale cheap. This enterprising firm propose to keep their patrons supplied with the best wood the market affords.

—The agent of the Clapp & Jones fire engine builders, of Hudson, New York, was in the city yesterday, although a little late with his offer to sell the city an engine. He could not offer inducements near as favorable as the "Button" contract. He intimated that he could not trade with the city for less than $3,000, which would only be allowing $400 for the old engine.

—They had a fire in the Oakbrook high school on Tuesday, and when the alarm was sounded in the building, instead of creating a panic and killing several hundred scholars in their eagerness to get out of the building, a procession was formed, one of the lady teachers taking her position at the organ, and the pupils marched out in perfect order, to the tune of "The Girl I Left Behind Me." They have a curious way of doing things up in Oakbrook.

—The Beloit Free Press: "As a rule those who bet on Blaine and Logan have come out pretty well, their losses on the general result being lost down in many cases by what was won from democrats in bets on majorities. One prominent democrat comes out $9 behind in the whole deal, having lost more on the state of New York falling to give 25,000 majority than he won on the general result. The Cleveland boys have got the bulged wallets though."

—Messrs. Tackwood Bros., of West Milwaukee street, are fast becoming recognized as the popular boot and shoe house of the city. They have in stock a complete line of new goods, including all the late styles, and their prices are extremely low. They are "selling out" every day, not to go out of business, but to make room for new goods, which are constantly arriving. Their growing trade is proof of the fact that their efforts to please the public are fully appreciated. Courtesy, good goods and cheap prices, are elements necessary to the success of any retail business, and Messrs. Tackwood Bros. are liberally supplied with all these necessities. Give them a call.

—A young woman giving her name as Bertha Shultz, and claiming Rockford as her home, fell in a fainting fit last evening a few minutes before six o'clock at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets. She was picked up by some gentlemen who were passing, and taken into Palmer & Stevens' drugstore, where she was properly cared for. After coming to herself, she told rather a singular story of her wanderings from Rockford to Chicago and to Janesville. She was taken to the Union house. The girl is about eighteen years of age, says she is an orphan, and has recently been to the Cook county (Chicago) hospital, and that she came to Janesville yesterday afternoon, reaching here at 4:45.

—The Reed & Barton, (New York and Taunton, Mass.) Illustrated catalogue of gold and silver electro-plate goods, has been received by Messrs. F. O. Cook & Co., of this city. It is the most sumptuous catalogue ever published in the United States, if not in the world, is of a large quarto form, of over 370 pages, containing thousands of fine illustrations of artistic work in gold and silver plate goods, many of the illustrations being printed in tints and colors. We understand that 7,000 copies of this catalogue were published, at a cost of $27 each. As a work of art the book is without a rival. Messrs. F. O. Cook & Co., keep a line of goods represented in this catalogue, and they are as fine as the book represents them to be. Messrs. Cook & Co. take pleasure in showing the fine qualities of these goods to their customers.

—The Ida Siddons' company will appear at Leppin's hall on Friday evening. The following from the St. Paul Pioneer Press speaks well of the entertainment: The Olympia was crowded to the door last night with an audience gathered to witness the reappearance of the Ida Siddons' specialty company. The performance, as a whole, is worthy of commendation, and the company is one of the best that has appeared upon the variety stage of St. Paul during the present or past season. Ida Siddons and Billy Arnold created a most favorable impression and were generally applauded; Ned West made a hit in his eccentric specialties, and Annie Hart and Bert Queen were prime favorites with the audience. The eight scenic-comics, in songs and dances, were loudly applauded, while "Jollities in a Snow Storm" and "Prince Faithful" filled out a programme of more than usual merit.

—The first delegation of tramps this season arrived in the city last evening. There were four of them, all genuine dyed in the wool tourists. One of them came from Montana and was industriously making his way southward, where he might escape the chilling blasts and frisky blizzards of a more northern climate; another of them started from Ohio and was on his way to Montana, for the reason, as he expressed it, that since Cleveland's election there was no longer any chance for an Ohio man, and he concluded to go west and grow up with the country.

They were all ushered into the municipal court this morning, and the kind-hearted judge being moved by the general hardness of their condition, allowed three of them to tarry at the county jail five days each on a bread and water diet, while the fourth being somewhat more prepossessing in his appearance, was allowed to depart upon his expressing a desire to do so without delay.

John Hallahan having accidentally filled himself so full of intoxicating liquor as to make himself obnoxious to others, was sent to jail five days to recuperate.

This afternoon Officer Smith brought in court two young men charged with breaking into one of Burr Robbins' cars, and stealing sundry articles, and Marshal Hogan hauled up a young man named Matthews on charge of stealing two plugs of tobacco. Both cases are yet to be tried.

Geo. M. Thompson, traveling agent, writes from Albany, N. Y.: "I have seen Mrs. Matting at the house of her daughter, Mrs. A. P. Lake, Mechanicville, N. Y., whose life has been saved by the use of Atholophors taken for rheumatism."

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 32 degrees above zero, cloudy, with west wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 44 degrees above zero. Clear, with west wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 47 and 35 degrees above zero.

Important to Property Owners.

There has never been a time in the history of this country, when fires were so numerous or disastrous in all parts of the country as during the year 1883 and this in 1884, or when failures in all branches of business have been more numerous. It would therefore seem the part of wisdom that all property owners should get insured, and the utmost importance that they insure in reliable, well known safe companies. Dimock & Hayner represent the solid old companies that have been in the business from twenty to one hundred and sixty years and have always paid one hundred cents on the dollar, and always will. Rates as low as others. Office, next door east of Rock County National Bank, Janesville, Wis.

New York City has been heard from.

A portion of our stock has arrived, and we will be pleased to meet all who are in search of toys, on and after November 20th. Second door south of Main street entrance to Myers house.

The undersigned is a practical butcher, and will attend to anything in that line for parties in the city or country.

Personal.

—Mr. Silas Basch, of Prairie du Chien, now traveling for a Chicago house, was in the city to-day.

—Miss Mary Lyke has gone to Spencer, Iowa, to visit a brother and sister residing at that place.

—Ald. Palmer, of the fourth ward, has gone to Hebron, Jefferson county, to transact some business.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Tansley, of the Julian house, Belvidere, are in the city guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Demuth, of the first ward.

—Mr. Ted D. Marks, the business manager of the Patti Ross company, which appears at the opera house this evening, was a caller at the Gazette office this afternoon.

—Mr. Peter Carhart, of the town of Harmony, has just returned home from a visit to Central Michigan, where he went some two weeks ago to attend the golden wedding of a sister, at which about one hundred relatives were gathered together from most of the western states. Mr. Carhart returns home well satisfied with Rock county as compared with that part of Michigan he visited, and thinks our county is far ahead of Michigan for agricultural purposes. Mr. Carhart is a very successful farmer; this year his barley averaged fifty bushels per acre, which was of good quality, winter wheat thirty-nine. He thinks people live just as long in Wisconsin as in Michigan, and he is perfectly satisfied with his own home surroundings.

Complimentary Tickets.

The eastern democrats are very liberal just now with complimentary tickets for the Salt River expedition, several of our republican friends having already received "comps" from their eastern democratic friends. Mr. H. C. Stearns, of Stearns & Baker, druggists West Milwaukee street, has had transportation presented to him. The ticket is a very fine one, and reads as follows:—"G. O. P."

Consolidated North & South Salt River Packet Company.

STEAMER JAMES G. BLANE.

Pass H. C. Stearns from Janesville to head of Salt River, on account of D. Jay.

For state room apply to Maria Halpin, Stearns' agents.

Meals served on board. Dinner bill of fare: Free trade soup; main meat with cod sauce; Leg of Lamb; Green beans; served by Duffin, Eklund & Co. Cooks: W. J. W. (No first need apply).

On the left end of the pass—

—NEWARK FOR FORTY-EIGHT.

And on the right end—

CONDITIONS.—The passengers take all risk to and from the city. The G. O. P. Co. cannot be held responsible for any loss or damage to property. The company is not responsible for any loss or damage to property. The company is not responsible for any loss or damage to property.

The following from the Racine Journal will interest the members of our military companies: "The approaching completion of the Baker block, which is being prepared for the Light Guards will be an event of unusual interest to that organization. The army, which will be one of the largest, and altogether the most elegant, of any in the west, is on the third floor of the building, and occupies a space forty feet wide by one hundred and ten feet long. Included in this is the drill room, forty by eighty feet with ceiling twenty feet in the clear, and provided with a hard wood floor. On the front of the building is the officers' room, fourteen by twenty-five feet, which will be carpeted and comfortably furnished. Just north of the officers' quarters is the company room, twenty-five by thirty feet, which will be used as a general lounging and reading room. It will also contain a locker for each of the thirteen non-commissioned officers of the company. From this room a stairway leads to the balcony on the fourth floor which overlooks the drill room. Off the balcony are two rooms of which one is a company room, and the other is the quartermaster's room, containing military stores. On the third floor, off the company and officers' rooms, are arranged vest rooms and water closets and other conveniences.

The army is furnished throughout in oak, walnut and butternut oil. The lighting arrangements are perfect to secure proper illumination, and all the floors are designed to prevent the noise from disturbing the occupants of the office below. The work will probably be finished in time for soon after the holidays, at which Governor and staff and a delegation from each company of the first regiment, W. N. G., will be present. Able speakers have already been secured to deliver addresses, and the governor will hold a levee after the speaking. Two guests will, of course, meet with a cordial reception at the hands of the people of Racine.

It is now expected that the Light Guards will attend the Inter-State competitive drill to be held at Mobile, Alabama, in the first week of May next, at which they hope to make a creditable appearance, if they do not bear away one or more of the prizes offered. The trip will include a visit to New Orleans, also, where the great cotton exposition will be open. Just about a week will be spent in the South land, and the boys are looking forward to the excursion with anticipations of a profitable no less than pleasant result."
